

Leonard A. Drake Gets Vacancy On Borough Council

Economist Named to Succeed Wm. P. Davies; Other Appointments Made

Leonard A. Drake, of Montgomery Court Apartments, Narberth, was appointed to Borough Council Monday night to fill the post vacated recently by the resignation of William P. Davies.

Drake, an economist with the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, has been a resident of Narberth since 1942. A graduate of Columbia University, he has also been associated with the Philadelphia Transportation Company. His Council term will expire in January, 1952.

His nomination for the post was made at the Council meeting by Robert M. Cameron. He is married and the father of two children, Dell, 10, and Davis, 8. Both Mr. and Mrs. Drake are active in the Parent-Teacher Association of the Narberth Public School.

Other appointments made Monday night included that of Chester C. Tyson, of 226 Sabine Ave., to the post of Borough auditor, and Sterling M. Chain to the Recreation Board.

Tyson, nominated by Henry P. Carr, will fill the post vacated by John A. Mowrer, who recently became Borough treasurer. Chain will fill the vacancy on the Recreation Board caused by the resignation of Davies.

Council business Monday night also included hearing regular reports from standing committees.

The report of the Public Safety Committee, Robert M. Cameron, chairman, stated that there had been five stop signs, three parking, and six miscellaneous traffic violations in Narberth during the past month as well as 47 parking meter violations. There were also three property damage and one personal injury accidents during the month.

The report of the Highway Committee, William S. Thompson, chairman, stated that during the past month the department completed concrete foundations for the new grandstand near the playground, rebuilding the sidewalk on the north side of the Narberth Avenue bridge, and miscellaneous work on the playground. Total cost of the work amounted to $2645.60.

Policemen Hurt, One Critically, In City Line Crash

Were Investigating Earlier Minor Accident Near Carroll Park

Two Haverford Township policemen were injured, one critically, when struck by a car while investigating a minor automobile accident early Thursday.

Two Philadelphia policemen also were injured in the crash on City Line, near Farwood Ave., Carroll Park.

The four policemen were investigating a minor automobile accident when run down by another car. The car, swerving from a side-swipe collision, plowed into the group as they stood beside an automobile that had struck a tree.

The Haverford Township policemen are Frank McCalla, 44, of Harvard Rd. near P. R. Brook, and James Lawrence Redmond, 33, of 327 Lancaster Ave., Linerch. Both are in Delaware County Hospital. Redmond is in critical condition with a fractured skull, compound fracture of the left leg, possible spine fracture and probable rib fractures. McCalla has head and leg injuries and a broken thumb.

The accident happened at 1:20 Thursday morning. The policemen had found a car against a tree on the south side of City Line Ave. There was no one in it and the damage was slight.

Driving east on City Line Ave., Philip W. D. Mensing, 52, of 6100 McCullum St., was in a side-swipe collision with a car driven by Frank T. Ryall, 39, of Upland Rd. Mensing, who was westbound, Mensing, police said, made a sharp turn trying to avoid the collision and ran into the policemen who were gathered in the road beside the wrecked car.

His car continued on and ran into the Haverford Township police car, knocking it into the Philadelphia car.

Mensing was charged with reckless driving in addition to assault and battery by automobile.

315 Summer School Students

There are 315 pupils enrolled in the Lower Merion Township Summer School, 179 in the senior high school and 136 in the junior high school. It was reported this week by Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Dubois.

Services Friday For Mrs. Eleanor McDermon

Funeral services for Mrs. Eleanor McDermon, wife of Edwin McDermon, 31 Woodbine Ave., Narberth, will be held at 3 P. M. Friday at the Frankfield & Chadwick Funeral Home, Ardmore. Mrs. McDermon, who was 73, died Tuesday after a long illness. Born in Cynwyd, she lived there all her life until she and her husband moved to Narberth 13 years ago. She was sister of the late Mrs. Luther Parsons.

Interment will be in St. Paul's Lutheran Cemetery, Ardmore.

Council Advances $363. Needed for Building Fund

Permits Start of Work On Community Center; Women Will Refund

A deficit of $363.10 in the amount needed to start work on proposed improvements to the Narberth Community Building will be met by Borough Council, it was announced Monday night.

The loan, to be repaid later this year by the Narberth Junior Women's Club, will make a total of $3795.70 needed for the alterations. Bids will be called for separately for each phase of the work. Plans for the alterations were approved by the Women's Community Club and the Juniors after examination of blueprints presented to them by William P. Davies, at that time a member of the recreation board.

Funds for the work, raised by both the junior and senior groups, are being administered by the building committee of the Borough Council.

Earlier this year $1500 was appropriated by the Senior group for new lighting facilities and a new floor. Of this amount, $67.60 remained after the cost of plans was taken out.

Later, the Senior club, through the sale of bonds, donated $2865 to the fund for the alterations, bringing the total to $2932.60. A donation of $500 by the Junior group brought the total to $3432.60 or $363.10 short of the necessary amount.

No money for the work will be received from the Borough.

The plans include additional toilet facilities, a larger kitchen, a powder room and additional storage space for the use of the Narberth Library. Much of the work will be done in the section of the present building adjacent to the rear of the Scout room which at present forms a bay. The bay will be extended to a depth of 30 feet.

Officials expect the work to be started within the next few weeks and completed in time for the Fall season of the club groups and other organizations which use the building.

Reiley Motors Is Burglarized

Thieves Take Only $1.75; Cause $600-$700 Damage

Burglars who entered Reiley Motors, Inc., 239 E. Lancaster Ave., Ardmore, last weekend, took only $1.75 in cash, but caused damages estimated at between $600 and $700, according to the president and owner, James McK. Reiley.

According to Reiley the apparently amateur thieves spent plenty of time searching for the money. Files were forced open and money, cigarettes, machine, broken, various smashed, and papers with possible cash value left strewn over the floor.

Entry was gained by breaking a rear window sometime between 10:30 P. M. Friday and 8 A. M. Saturday. Garage foreman, David Cornelius, discovered the burglary when he arrived at work Saturday morning.

Two other Ardmore automobile dealer concerns were also entered last weekend, but at neither Main Line Pontiac, 211 E. Lancaster Ave., nor at Raymond P. Scott, Inc., 265 E. Lancaster Ave., was anything taken.

Because of the similar methods of operation, Lower Merion Police believe the same persons were responsible in all three burglaries.

Realtors Make Township Tour

Members of the Main Line Board of Realtors made a tour of points of interest in Lower Merion Township at their meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Supervising the tour were Walter Rosegarten, Township Engineer; Jesse L. Stetler, Superintendent of Building Inspection; Evan James, Township Manager and Secretary; Major Samuel Gearhart, Superintendent of Police; Grant Olewiler, Supt. of Sanitary Drainage; Walter Hammonds, Township Treasurer; Richard W. Thorington, President of Commissioners; F. R. Drayton, Chairman of the Board of Adjustment, and Clarence Beatty, Superintendent of Parks.

The trip included a visit to the township incinerator, the police rifle range, and inspection of the sewage disposal methods and the park system.

The luncheon meeting preceding the tour was held at the Viking Inn, Ardmore.

Terminus Point Of Turnpike Still Undecided

Delays Planning Feeder Route to Philadelphia Through Township

State Highway Department officials this week stated that until a definite terminus point for the proposed extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike is decided, no further plans for a feeder route from Philadelphia, through Lower Merion Township, will be made.

Earlier reports stated that the extension of the Turnpike would terminate in the vicinity of King of Prussia, and that the Department has definitely decided on a definite route for the feeder.

A spokesman said that a survey of the proposed extension must be completed, and a definite terminus point announced by the Turnpike Commission, before plans for the feeder route are made final.

Tentative plans for the feeder route, which is also known as the Valley Forge Parkway, call for a start in Philadelphia with the route running along the west bank of the Schuylkill River from City Line Ave. to West Conshohocken, and then along a relocated State Route 202. The relocation of Route 202 will also not be determined until the terminus point is agreed upon.

The parkway at West Conshohocken, would turn north, away from the river, passing through Gulph Mills joining Old Gulph Rd. (State Route 233) at a miller west of Gulph Mills, and following Route 23 for several miles.

The majority of River Rd. is owned by the State Department, but only a 33-foot right of way is held by the State, whereas an 80-foot right of way is necessary for the construction of the parkway.

The proposed route of the parkway also covers a section between Belmont Ave. and Righter's Ferry Rd., West Manayunk, where there is a break in River Rd. This break would necessitate the purchase of the entire section by the State.

Officials of the Department have stated that no effort will be made either to secure the necessary right of way or purchase the additional property until the extension terminus point is decided upon.

The official added that when the terminus point is announced, work on the parkway will be started without awaiting completion of work on the extension.

The parkway would go through the Lower Merion Township sections of West Manayunk, Gladwyne, and West Conshohocken, and would be open to both pleasure cars and trucks.

Among the organizations which have promoted the parkway plan are: Merion Civic Association, Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club, Merion Park Civic Association, Penn Valley Association, Wynnewood Civic Association, Wynnewood Improvement Association, Ard-Wood Civic Association, Gladwyne Civic Association, Haverford Civic Association, East Bryn Mawr Town Meeting Association and Rosemont Civic Association.

Termites Invade M Grade School

Termites have invaded the Ashland Ave. elementary school building, it was reported at the Lower Merion School Board meeting Monday night by Frank A. Dubois, superintendent of schools.

Dubois pointed out that a good deal of the damage had already been done, particularly under the wood floor of the shop room, and that a Philadelphia exterminating concern had recommended that a whole new floor be laid out for the shop.

Because of the high cost involved in such an operation for which no money had been allotted in the budget, the school directors voted to hire the Termitox Co., Philadelphia, to make treatment for a temporary stoppage of the destruction, and to make an appropriation in next year's budget for the relaying of the new floor.

They further directed the board's building and grounds committee to make a thorough investigation of the termite situation in the school.

Local Residents Attend Stanley Jones' Ashram

Mrs. Walter C. Wagner and her son, John Wagner, of 149 Grandview Rd., Ardmore, and Mrs. Roger H. Wells, of Bryn Mawr, are attending the Stanley Jones' Ashram, being held at Bindenwood, near Reading, this week.

The Bindenwood Estate, the property of the Reading Y. M. C. A., has become a popular place for conferences and retreats similar to the present gathering.

Merion Twins Are Brides

Mr. Wilhoite is the former Miss Katherine Miller. Mrs. Hannu is the former Miss Marian Miller. They are the twin daughters of Mrs. Todd M. Miller, of Bowman Ave., Merion.

Chas. M. Stuard Succumbs at 78

Services Held Tuesday For Prominent Mortician

Charles M. Stuard, well-known Main Line funeral director, died Saturday morning in Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, where he was taken last Thursday after suffering a heart attack at his summer home in Cape May, N. J. He was 78.

Private funeral services were held for him Thursday afternoon from his home and place of business, 104 Cricket Ave., Ardmore.

Owner of Charles M. Stuard & Son Funeral Directors, Mr. Stuard was a native of Philadelphia, and had moved the undertaking establishment from its original location to the Ardmore address in 1900 from his father, the late Charles H. Stuard. The business was founded in 1882 by his grandfather, Henry D. Stuard.

Mr. Stuard was active in the business until his death, aided by his son, C. Wallace Stuard, Jr. He was a member of Cassia Lodge No. 273, F. and A. M.; Lu Lu Temple, Montgomery Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and Ascension Commandery, Knights Templar.

Besides his son and grandson, he is survived by his wife, Annie L. Hickey Stuard; another son, Dr. H. Donald Stuard, of Genoa, N. Y.; and four other grandchildren.

PRIZE WINNERS

Narberth Fire Company was awarded a $50 prize Wednesday evening in a parade held in Kennett Square.

The prize was awarded on the basis of best equipment entered in the parade.

Lower Merion to Seek Million Bond Issue for New Schools

Lower Merion Township voters will be asked to approve a school district bond issue for between one and two million dollars at the November election.

If passed, the money will be used to build a new elementary school in Penn Valley, a new cafeteria building for the senior and junior high school plant in Ardmore, and additions to the Penn Wynne elementary school.

The Lower Merion School Board will not take official action to place the bond issue on the ballot until preliminary plans for the proposed improvements which will enable the school directors to determine how large an issue will be needed.

The need for a bond issue to finance the building program was stressed Monday night by Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Dubois in his report to the board at its July meeting.

"The need for more school buildings is so imperative," the superintendent declared, "that any further delay in building procedure will bring about a very serious impeding of the elementary educational program."

He pointed out that although postponement was justified during the war because of scarcity of materials and high costs, the postpone-

Where, Oh Where? Is Our Little Dog (Catcher) Gone?

The search is on. Members of Narberth Borough Council Monday night laid plans to investigate the "case of the missing dog catcher."

According to the Councilmen, the dog catcher might just as well be the little man who wasn't there because he never is. At least the majority of members of Council said they couldn't remember seeing him very often.

The Borough dog catcher is also the Lower Merion Township dog catcher, and Narberth pays the Township $15 a week for his services. One Councilman said Monday night, "Last year only two dogs were picked up by the truck during the entire year, and the bill amounted to $780."

Council's first step was to authorize Burgess Richard L. Miller to check Lower Merion records to see how many times the truck has been in Narberth so far this year.

Award Contracts for 3 New School Buses

Contracts for three new Lower Merion school buses and for repairs to seven others have been awarded by the school board's purchasing and transportation committees, it was reported at the school board meeting Monday night.

Two of the new buses will be purchased from H. R. Jacob at a total cost of $11,539.24 ($12,974.24 less $1,435 turn-in on two of the old school buses); and the other from the Norristown White Sales & Service Inc., for $6,909.77 ($8,437.52 less $1,527.75 turn-in on one old school bus).

A contract for repairs to five buses was awarded to John J. Parsons for $2,086.25; and one for repairs to two buses was awarded to the Darien Body Company.

Mrs. Wells Named To Relief Group

Appointment to Methodist Organization Announced

The appointment of Mrs. Roger H. Wells, of the Dolgely, Bryn Mawr College, to membership in the Committee for German Methodist Relief, a sub-committee of the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, has been announced.

Mrs. Wells with her husband, Dr. Roger H. Wells, Professor of Economics at Bryn Mawr College, spent a part of two years in Berlin, when Dr. Wells was working with the Civil Administration Division of the United States Government. While in Berlin she supervised the distribution of relief packages sent to Germany by the Ardmore Methodist Church.

Dr. Wells returned to Berlin in June and is at present working with General Lucius D. Clay on plans for the unification of the western zones of Germany. Their daughter, Miss Lois Wells, is also in Berlin, where she is working with the Friends' Service Committee.

BM Man Found Dead on Roof

Former Church Janitor Died While Painting Roof

Clarence Davis Woodward, 83, of 737 Lancaster Ave., Bryn Mawr, was found dead on the roof of his home early Saturday morning a little more than an hour after he was reported missing.

Woodward's body was found by Lower Merion Township patrolman William Denison, who went to the house at 1 A. M. Saturday after Mr. and Mrs. Lester Galluue, occupants of the first and second floors reported that he had not been seen since noon Friday.

The Bryn Mawr man, former janitor for the Wayne Presbyterian Church, had apparently been painting the roof over a second floor porch of the three story house when he died of natural causes, according to Dr. James L. Shoemaker, Lower Merion police Surgeon. He was found lying beside a can of paint with a brush in his hand.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie S. Woodward, of West Chester; a son, C. Donald Woodward, of Paoli; and four grandchildren. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from West Chester.

Storm Causes Flooded Areas

Three Lower Merion Township roads were blocked off for almost an hour Wednesday evening as the result of flooded areas caused by the heavy cloud burst.

Lancaster Ave., between Church Rd. and City Line, was cut off in several spots and police reported 20 cars stuck throughout the flooded area.

Warwick and Remington Rds., Wynnewood, were both flooded, with Remington Rd. closed from Lancaster Ave. to Haverford Rd. and Wynnewood Rd. south of Argyle Rd. was also flooded.

All roads were open within an hour.

Autocar Workers To Take Strike Vote Today

Follows Breakdown Of Negotiations Between Company and Union

Twelve hundred and fifty employees of the Autocar Company in Ardmore, members of Local 131, United Auto Workers, CIO, will take a strike vote this afternoon, it was learned late yesterday.

Decision to take the vote followed breakdown of wage agreement negotiations between Autocar management and the union. Three union proposals for cost-of-living increases were called impossible by management due to the decline in the market for heavy trucks. A counter proposal, made by Autocar at the request of Federal and State Conciliators, was turned down by the local.

The local's wage agreement with Autocar expired June 21 and was extended to July 12 by mutual consent. Meanwhile, there were seven meetings between management and union representatives, including three sessions with Federal and State Conciliators in an unsuccessful effort to reach agreement.

The local's contract with Autocar, which is separate from the wage agreement, expired last December 3 and a new contract was signed early in June. The local and the Autocar management have agreed that once the wage agreement is settled, it will become part of the contract.

Borough Council, Monday night, authorized its Building Committee to investigate fire-hazard charges against the Windsor-Essex Inn, Windsor and Essex Aves.

A report of a recent survey made by the Fire Underwriters Association, read at the Council meeting, stated that "only 25 percent of the occupants of the building have a fair chance of getting out of the building alive in case of fire."

The association report recommended eight steps necessary to make the rambling frame hotel safe for occupancy. They included: Constructing a standard brick fire tower with self-closing smoke-light doors in the north, east and main sections, covering the ceilings in the cellar with asbestos plaster and the relocation of all electrical wiring below the new ceiling, cutting off all heat appliances from the rest of the cellar, providing self-closing fire doors, increasing corridor lighting and reconditioning all electric wires and kitchen stoves.

B. M. Papoon, who with Mrs. Alice H. Van Fossen, is managing the hotel under the supervision of Lorenzo Alagia, owner, told Our Town Wednesday, however, that extensive alterations to the building have already been started, including some of those recommended by the association.

They include: The addition of fire escapes, a fire well, fire-proofing the kitchen, all new kitchen equipment, a new tile floor with asbestos base on the first floor, new wiring on the second floor, new electric circuits on the second floor, centralizing the heating equipment, painting the first floor, and repairs to the porch.

Papoon added that the second and third floors would be painted in the near future.

The survey, conducted by R. F. Goodhue, chief engineer of the Middle Department of the Association, was requested by Borough officials after a routine inspection of the hotel's kitchen facilities by the Borough Health Department early this year.

At Monday night's Borough Council meeting, Sterling M. Chain, chairman of the Council Building Committee, said:

"The report of the Underwriters survey was referred to Albert Nulty, chief of the Narberth Fire Company, and to the deputy fire marshal of Pennsylvania, and although Chief Nulty is not empowered to act in the enforcement of the recommendations, he has reported the condition of the building."

Scott Building Opened Tuesday

Modern Structure Cost $250,000

The new Raymond P. Scott Lincoln-Mercury showrooms were formally opened Tuesday evening when Congressman Samuel K. Mc-

RAYMOND P. SCOTT

Connell, Jr., of Wynnewood, cut a ribbon placed across the doors for the occasion.

Lower Merion and Haverford Township officials were also present and congratulated Scott on his business dealings in the community for more than two decades.

The new building, located at 265 E. Lancaster Ave., was designated by J. Bedford Wolley, of Ardmore, and built by the H. C. Grau Company of Philadelphia at a cost of $250,000.

Scott, associated with the automobile business in Ardmore since 1928, moved to the new location from 43 Lancaster Ave., Ardmore. The building incorporates a number of architectural features brought back by Scott after a tour of Florida and California dealerships.

A member of the Lower Merion School Board, Scott is a nationally known railroad racing enthusiast and has been a contestant for the world's championship at San Diego in his International Star class boat, "Stardust."

Scott makes his home at 654 Moreno Road, Penn Valley, and is the father of three sons, Warren, Craig and Raymond, Jr.

Chester, Bryn Mawr Horse Shows To Combine For September Event

The inaugural combination of the Chester County and Bryn Mawr Horse Shows is set to take place September 23, 24 and 25 at the famed Devon Horse Show grounds, Devon.

William Cox Wright, of St. David's, representing the Bryn Mawr Horse Show, oldest equestrian event in the state, and J. Brooks B. Parker, of Stratford, founding president of the Chester County Show, are to be the co-chairmen of the combined shows. Edward B. Smith, Jr., Edgemont, and William L. Van Allen, Newtown Square, are the vice chairmen, with Ward Sullivan, Malvern, secretary; Warren B. DeLong, Jr., Malvern, advisory chairman, and Mrs. Edgar Scott, Villanova; Mrs. John B. Hannum, 3d, Unionville, and Mrs. John C. West, also of Malvern, as advisors.

The Chester County Hospital, the Chester County Girl Scouts and the Park Playground and Recreation Committee of Haverford Township are to be the beneficiaries of this enlarged show, which will be of a stature to rank as the outstanding fall show of the eastern seaboard.

All of the historic Bryn Mawr challenge trophies and the array of Chester County trophies will go into competition at the coming show, comprising one of the richest prize panels in the country for a similar event.

A large women's committee has been formed to manage the myriad details of the colorful county fair and the many fund-raising plans in prospect to swell the amount which will be turned over to the respective beneficiaries.

Mrs. S. Laurence Bodine, Newtown Square, is advisory chairman of the women's committee, of which Mrs. James K. Robinson, Jr., West Chester, is chairman. Mrs. J. Holcombe Genung, Haverford; Mrs. Daniel Cornwell, West Chester; and Mrs. Owen B. Rhoads, Paoli, are the co-chairmen.

THINKING OUT LOUD

Copyright 1948 by CHARLES A. WRIGHT

HIT THE JACKPOT

That radio contestant who hit the jackpot for $17,000 in prizes after getting most of the answers wrong, has done much to increase interest in radio. We suspect that the Hooper rating of the show went up immediately and that news of her good luck has overcome, in part, at least, the summer slump in radio listening.

Interest in the question and answer programs has increased as the sponsors have learned not to limit their rewards to people who know a lot. For although the radio listeners may envy the wisdom of a Quiz Kid or an Information Please expert, most of them think such programs a bit high hat. They prefer shows keyed to the level of their own intelligence, which makes it surprising that "It Pay to be Ignorant" isn't more popular.

Truth and Consequences zoomed to popularity after it took its emphasis off "truth." Nowadays if you are so foolish as to give the right answers, you are consoled with a few bucks and a package of soap powder. But, oh, boy, if you miss the truth and take the consequences you are apt to walk home with a yacht.

And on old-fashioned programs which still pay for the correct answers, the announcers have developed the cutest technique at giving out "little hints." They know their success is measured by the amount of money they give out. If a contestant doesn't take home at least $64, it's not the announcer's fault.

It's surprising how many people will sit in the house on hot evenings listening to other people win money. They enjoy it almost as much as if they had won it themselves.

Every time a studio contestant strikes it rich, the stay-at-homes, can almost feel the money being put into their own pockets. It's a cheerful feeling, even though when you reach for the money at the end of the broadcast you find nothing in your pocket except a hole.

It's the sort of feeling that makes people prefer Rinsio to Super-soaps, or vice versa, depending on which gives away the most moala.

That's why a program which pays off for the wrong answers should be successful. There are many more people who know the wrong answers.

Things have changed a lot since the time when we appeared on Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson's "Battle of the Sexes." At that time we got one answer right out of three and all they gave us was a gold watch.

And they only helped us with the answer to one question. That, of course, was the one we got right.

Funny thing is that we can't remember that question or answer. But we remember the questions we got wrong.

Such as: "What does the Statue of Liberty hold in her left hand? Is it a scroll, a tablet, or a basket of fruit?" We're pretty smart. We felt quite sure it wasn't a basket of fruit.

fruit. If we had been a bit smarter we'd given the right answer, instead of the one we did, but we'd still have received only one watch.

The other question we muffed was to name three of nine bodies of water that surround Alaska. We always thought Alaska was surrounded by ice.

One nice thing about that program was that whether you were on the winning team or the losing team you still got a watch. Our colleagues on the men's team were smart, which is why we got a 21-jewel watch. The Little Woman got a Quiz Kid or an Information Please expert, most of them think such programs a bit high hat. But was on the losing team, so her watch had only 17-jewels.

We've been trying ever since to convince her that, that proves man's intellectual superiority over woman, but she doesn't convince very easily.

She keeps bragging about the fact that she had three correct answers to our one, but we attribute that solely to the fact that she listens to the Dr. I. Q. program every Monday evening.

At our house, Monday between 9:30 and 10 P. M. is known as the "Time of Silence." Anyone who makes a noise while Dr. I. Q. is doing his stuff gets a very dirty look. The fact that the Little Woman may decide to switch off the radio while we are listening to our favorite program has nothing to do with the case.

The Little Woman has become quite an expert at winning on the Dr. I. Q. program. She can recite the tongue twister: Jack is back said Mack to Hack; Jack is back, Mack, to him said Hack and she can answer a large percentage of the questions correctly. At the end of each broadcast she figures how many silver dollars she'd have earned if she had been a contestant instead of a listener. She's gotten pretty rich that way.

Personally we think Dr. I. Q. is a bit old-fashioned. He still insists on the right answers. And he doesn't give hints. It seems pretty mean on the part of a fellow who rarely gives away more than seven to sixteen silver dollars at a show.

That's why we have vowed never to buy any of his soap. By the way, what kind of soap does he sell?

New Awnings Give Protection

Withstand Winds Up to 80 Miles Per Hr.

Owners of Kool Vent Aluminum Awnings have found during the last two severe wind and rain storms in the Philadelphia area, a permanency never heretofore available until this new product was introduced on the market.

Guaranteed to withstand winds to 80 miles an hour, there is not the scurrying around to the porch and windows with the old type awnings and getting drenched in the meantime.

Made of strong durable, lightweight aluminum, and constructed to last a lifetime, the new Kool Vent aluminum awnings will not tear, rot, sag or rust. They are a permanent fixture of your house, for not only can these be left up for all the seasons, they are really constructed for an all seasons wear and tear. In summer, they keep out the sun and rain, and yet let in air and provide vented shade. In winter, they protect your windows and doors and porches from snow and sleet with a guarantee against snow and ice loads of forty pounds a square foot.

With 160 color finishes there is no question as to matching your house. In fact they can be repainted at will to match changes in color scheme.

Harmonizing with all types of architecture, Kool Vent aluminum awnings have been tested and approved from coast to coast. Architects, designers, contractors, building inspectors, fire chiefs, insurance companies, and thousands of satisfied users attest to their superior qualities of distinctive appearance, permanency and complete safety, at a lower cost over the years than any other protective device.

This Week in History

One of the most dramatic events in modern history took place 159 years ago this week!... the storming of the Bastille, a prison in Paris used chiefly for incarceration of political offenders... July 14, 1789! This historic event marked the first really effective and violent phase of the French Revolution which had been in progress for some time! A revolution against the taxation, oppression and the poverty that feudal aristocrats had imposed on the French people. Within a few weeks after the fall of the Bastille, the ancient and decadent aristocratic order collapsed and the National Assembly was called upon to create a new political and social system for a new age!

Woman Hurt When Struck By Auto in Wynnewood

A Brookline woman was seriously injured last Thursday morning when she was struck by an automobile as she was crossing Haverford Rd. at Witley Rd., Wynnewood.

She is Miss Ann Manning, 30, of 23 Kathmere Rd., who was detained in Bryn Mawr Hospital with fractures of the lower right leg, right wrist and nose, a deep laceration of the forehead and multiple abrasions.

The driver, Samuel Stryker, 21, of 222 Kent Rd., Ardmore, told Lower Merion Township police he was proceeding west on Haverford Rd. shortly before 1 A. M. when Miss Manning darted in front of his car. She was taken to the hospital in a police ambulance.

Named Events Chairman For Red Feather Drive

Harry A. Batten, of Roberts Rd., Bryn Mawr, has been appointed chairman of the Events Committee in addition to his former appointment as a vice-chairman of the 1946 Red Feather Campaign. It was announced this week by Rev. W. Brown, general campaign chairman. As Events Committee chairman, a post in which he also served this year, Batten will coordinate, plan and supervise programs for the mass meeting of volunteer workers in Convention Hall, as well as for report luncheons and dinners. He will also aid in the selection and assignment of speakers and entertainment features for these events.

He is president of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., Philadelphia advertising firm.

L. J. Gibbons Speaks To Ardmore Optimists

Lawrence J. Gibbons, of Westgate Hills, Governor of the Second District of Optimists International, made his first official visit since his election in June to the Optimist Club of Ardmore, on Tuesday.

Also attending the meeting at the Llanerch Country Club were William P. Steward and James W. Stout, Lieutenant Governors of the Second District.

Gibbons, in a talk to the club, told of the recent Optimist Convention at San Antonio, Texas, and spoke of the aims and plans for the Second District within the next year. He stressed the importance of boys work.

Know Your State

The Pattern of a New Age

Whether or not atomic energy ever becomes effective as a chief source of power and other developments now proceeding from the experimental to the practicable stages are certain to have a large effect on the American future.

Many of these new ideas are now being worked out in Pennsylvania, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out. This is quite natural since Pennsylvania has been the chief source of energy which moves the vast machinery of our Nation's industries and commerce.

The dependence of our National Defense on petroleum products is obvious to us all. Yet it is well known that America is using its oil resources at a faster rate than any nation in the world. To deal with the possibility of future shortages, the first large scale conversion plant which will transform bituminous coal into fuel oil and gasoline is now being constructed a few miles out of the city of Pittsburgh. This plant is likely to be the first of a large number of similar installations in the future since there is a known supply of bituminous coal adequate to provide all the fuel needs of our Nation, in both liquid and solid form, for thousands of years.

The problem of developing a highly efficient burning device for the use of Pennsylvania's unique product, anthracite, has long concerned the hard coal industry. The introduction of the "anthracite" which occupies less space than the average oil burner and works with much greater efficiency than any other domestic coal-burning device so far invented, is also a Pennsylvania development which promises to be of great importance.

Even more revolutionary than the transformation of bituminous coal into gasoline and fuel oil is the demonstration now being conducted in a home in Reading, Pennsylvania, that the houses of the future can be kept warm in the winter and cool in the summer by utilizing the heat of the Earth as a chief source of energy.

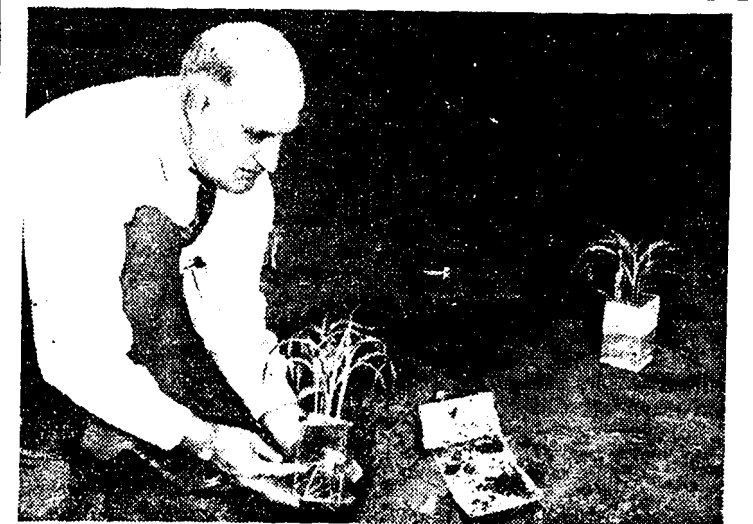

Every household electric refrigerator generates heat which it radiates into the air of the room in which it operates. If one imagines this heat radiation greatly increased and the cold coils inside the refrigerator raised 15 or 20 degrees in temperature by the heat stored in the Earth, one can see how the device could be used to heat one's kitchen instead of cool one's food.

This is what is done during the wintertime by this new device known as a "heat pump". The whole house becomes the radiator for the system, while the water in a dug well prevents the refrigerant liquid from going below approximately 50 degrees. Because of this Earth heat, the system provides much more energy than is supplied to it by the electric motors which circulate both the refrigerant and the well water.

In the summer the circulation system can be reversed and the well water used to absorb rather than to provide heat for the interior of the house which then becomes a true refrigerator.

Whether this new method of domestic heating and air conditioning through the use of electric power and the stored heat of the Earth will come into general use during the next decade is a matter of less importance than the fact that it does provide for the future a means for the conservation of fuel energy over an indefinite period.

TRANSPLANT MEXICAN CORN SUCCESSFULLY

Big-rooted, cold and drought resistant corn from the high plateau country of Mexico was successfully transplanted in Illinois this spring by corn breeders of the DeKalb hybrid seed company. The Mexican seed was started in a greenhouse earlier in the spring before Illinois soils were warm enough for corn, and then transplanted outdoors in paper ice-cream cartons.

For corn breeding work, the Mexican corn must produce tassels, pollen and silk at the same time as northern inbreds. Because the Mexican corn is slower growing, it had to be planted 3 weeks earlier than the inbreds. This experiment may result in bigger-rooted, more drought and cold-resistant hybrids of the future.

SPARE TIME GARDENER

By DOUGLAS EARL
HENRY A. DREER, INC.

The Spare Time Gardener, has been eating Lettuce (Oakleaf) from a 20-foot row right outside the kitchen door for more than five weeks, and it is ever good. We pick it at 6:30 P. M. and eat it at 7 P. M. What could be fresher. A row of Larkspur planted in front of the Lettuce almost hides it and Zinnias have been transplanted right in the row. So when we get through with food for the "belly" we will have food for the "soul".

We have also had our fill of green Onions, and String Beans, while Beets and Kohl-Rabi will be ready in a week. Lima Beans are in blossom; Tomatoes already have sizeable green fruit. All this in a bit of ground 15 x 40 feet that was under water most of June. Blight started on the Tomatoes but a couple of dustings with Tomato Dust fixed that. One dusting with Rotenone knocked out the Bean Beetle that have appeared so far.

As an experiment, to test the viability of Dormant Rose bushes that had been kept in storage after the usual planting time, six bushes were planted on the 10th. of May. They bloomed in exactly six weeks. Dusting with DuPont Rose Dust has kept the foliage in prime condition; no sign of Black Spot. As part of the experiment, no fertilizer was applied when planting but they will now get an application of Bovung (Dried Cow Manure).

Japanese Beetles have made their appearance; so far hand-picking has kept them in check, but the beetle traps and arsenate of lead are ready should they get worse. Japonex, The Milky Spore Disease, will kill the grubs in the soil, apply in late July at about the time the beetles lay their eggs.

If your evergreens have made too vigorous a growth, due to the rainy spring, and extend out over paths and driveways, now is the time to do some judicious pruning and shearing. Watch for red spider and spray with Black Leaf 40. at the first sign of their appearance.

Summer Theatre Presents Play By Haverford College Graduate

"How Bright the Moon," a fast moving, sophisticated comedy by James P. Adams, forms the fare this week at the Bryn Mawr College Summer Theater at Goodhart Hall on the Bryn Mawr campus. Addams, who graduated recently from Haverford College, demonstrates in his farce that he has learned much about playwrighting in the course of his studies for a Master's Degree in Theater at Columbia University.

Johnny Metcalf, who aroused enthusiasm in an earlier comedy role on the summer theatre stage, scores heavily in the leading role of a millionaire playboy. To a far greater extent than his fellow players, Metcalf is able to make even the trifling line seem like fresh and sparkling humor. Sandy Stoddard is both amusing and decorative as the artist, Cecile, whom Hugh threw over to marry her friend, Leslie.

Marjory Low, the Bryn Mawr College junior who wrote the morbid fantasy presented by the company last week, appears as Leslie, and does not adjust herself too successfully to the demands of a comedy part. By way of contrast, Jervis McMechan does a very smooth job as the art dealer's agent who marries Cecile. McMechan, who has starred previously in a serious role, shows impressive versatility as a comedian. The play is hampered somewhat by John Brubaker and Dave Olson, who as Adler and Allison should bring in much of the comedy, and who deliver their lines too much as if by rote.

The humor of "How Bright the Moon" is subtle, but apparently was understood by and amusing to the first night audience, which included famed New York critic John Mason Brown. The final performance of the comedy will be Friday and Saturday evenings.—C. A. W.

C.A.P. Coastal Patrol Group Plans Reunion

Base 17 of the C. A. P. Coastal Patrol will hold its second annual reunion this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Hotel Henry Perkins, Riverhead, Long Island, where its personnel were billeted during their wartime anti-submarine operations.

Included in the group are 31 pilots who were recently awarded the Air Force Air Medal by Maj. Gen. Lucas V. Brant, USAF, National Commander. One of them is Col. Ralph Earle, of Haverford, who founded the base in August, 1942, and served as its commanding officer until December, 1943. Other local men among the honored pilots are Wallace D. Newcomb, of Bryn Mawr, and Donald S. Leas, Jr., of Haverford.

Congratulations To... RAYMOND P. SCOTT, Inc.

The new Raymond P. Scott, Inc., Lincoln-Mercury building which was formally opened Tuesday, is one of the most modern automobile showroom and service station units to be erected in this area.

Covering approximately one acre with a 200-foot frontage on Lancaster Ave., Ardmore, the building, (shown above), is built in an "L" shape to provide efficient arrangement and a maximum of parking off the highway. The main shop, with permanently marked service stalls, will accommodate 19 cars, and is equipped with underground pipes to which the exhaust of each car will be attached so that all gases will be piped outside the shop.

The parts and accessories sections are located, with the sales counter and cashier's booth, near the main shop entrance. The parts department adjoins this section and includes an additional counter for service to customers in the show room at the front. Over 2,000 square feet of floor space on a balcony above affords a large area for a large stock of parts.

The shop extension is at the rear, and extends across the entire property, housing a number of separate departments which are marked above the entrance door. Eleven additional cars can receive separate services in these departments. The parking area will accommodate 44 cars and will also provide space for the display of used cars.

Designed with the conviction that the all-important function of the showroom is to display the new automobile, a stream-lined modern style has been employed. All walls except the rear, are entirely of plate glass from floor to ceiling to give complete view of the display. The ceiling continues beyond the glass to form a cantilevered hood, surmounted with ribbed stainless steel band. To reduce the amount of light reflection, the plate glass walls are tilted to slope outward at the top. All lighting fixtures are recessed in the ceilings, and the background walls have all been kept in a light neutral blue-gray.

The main central feature of the building has a base of curved steps leading to a platform in front of a pair of clear plate glass double doors, flanked on both sides and above with plate glass walls set in stainless steel mullions. Framing this central motive are two imposing masonry pylons in Indiana Limestone, with the front lines conforming to the lines of the sloping plate glass windows of the show room. The side walls reach to a height of 22 feet and a ceiling which features a recessed circle, beyond the rim of which are tubes of cold cathode lighting. From the center of this high circular ceiling hangs a large chandelier of French crystals. A stainless steel moulding covers a projection at the bottom of the side walls of the central area and concealed behind this, are rows of tubular lighting which light the side walls. In all ceilings of the show room, the lights and a focusing arrangement enable most of the source of light to be concealed.

The building, being basically functional has the owner's office, closing office, salesman's office and clerical office as well as parts department adjoining the showroom area, but their entrances provide the maximum in a one color background for the cars display. This thought is followed in the three flush surfaced doors in the center of the back wall which will fold away to allow passage of new cars from the main shop. An exterior door from the showroom has been provided for convenience in reaching the parking area. A terrace floor in harmonizing color completes the scheme.

A series of flood and spot lights will illuminate the walls of the shop extension, and parking area, and a battery of flood lights mounted on the lower roof of the showroom will illuminate the entire limestone side wall of the pylon. On this wall will be mounted in stainless steel, the name, Raymond P. Scott, Inc., in block letters, and in large script, the words, Lincoln-Mercury.

Miss Beatrice Sulzberger Wed In Nuptial Mass Saturday

At a blue and gold wedding on Saturday morning, July 10, in our Lady of Lourdes Church, Overbrook, Miss Beatrice Sulzberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sulzberger, of Berkeley Rd., Merion, became the bride of Ensign John F. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Marshall, of Norfolk, Va. Rev. Joseph McMullen, of St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook, officiated at the nuptial mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown fashioned with a lace bodice featuring a high neckline and long tapered sleeves, and a full marquisette skirt ending in a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Dorothy Sulzberger served as maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Misses Nancy and Jean Ellis, of Merion Park. Miss Sulzberger wore a pale yellow taffeta model made with a ruffled bertha forming tiny sleeves, and a bouffant skirt. The attendants wore similar gowns of light blue and all wore matching tulle veils and carried bouquets of summer flowers shaded from light to dark blue and mixed with yellow.

Best man for the bridegroom was Charles H. Sulzberger, Jr., brother of the bride, and the ushers included Lieut. Commander Winfield, of Philadelphia; Lieut. Arthur Rand, of Massachusetts; Lieut. G. G. Herbert Johnson, of New Jersey, and Ensign Charles Nimitz, of Texas.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception for the bride and groom and families was held at the Penn Sheraton Hotel, after which the couple left for a two weeks' wedding trip to Montreal, Canada.

Frances Walker, Gordon Daggy Take Vows in Garden Ceremony

A pretty garden ceremony on Saturday afternoon, July 10, made Miss Frances Walker, daughter of Mrs. A. Ellis Baker, of Rockland Rd., Merion, and Wallace Warner Walker, of Norfolk, Va., the bride of Gordon Daggy, son of J. Gentry Daggy, of Hathaway Lane, Wynnewood, and the late Mrs. Daggy.

The ceremony, held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Stockton MacFarland, Malvern, was performed by Rev. Richard T. Lyford, of St. Asaph Church, Bala-Cynwyd.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her step-father, wore a white eyelet embroidery gown fashioned with a tiny Peter Pan collar, eyelet cap sleeves and covered buttons down the bodice. Rows of eyelet formed the skirt, which was caught at the back with an organly bustle. She wore a white horsehair picture hat and organly mitts, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white geraniums surrounded by organly.

Maid of honor and only attendant for the bride was Miss Teresa Williams, of New York, who was given in a model of pale peach organly made with long tapered sleeves, a low round neckline, and a ruffled skirt. She wore a halo headpiece of matching material and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of Rubrum lilies surrounded by leaves.

J. Gentry Daggy acted as best man for his son, and the ushers included Herbert T. Hufner, Jr., of Overbrook; T. Stephen Neale, of Norristown; J. Gilpin Allen, of Wynnewood; and Donald B. Lockett, of Bala.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the garden, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Ocean City. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Daggy will reside in Devon.

overflow is being sent to Merion. This school, already feeling the impact of nearby home-building operations, is now also overflowing.

The superintendent said that at the Penn Wynne School there are now so many pupils that classes are unworkable and an even greater increase is indicated in the near future. Additional classroom facilities are included in the plans for this plant.

Present kitchen and dining room facilities at the Ardmore high school plant, Dubois said, are so inadequate for the present school population that they reflect no credit on the school or the community.

He also recommended to the board that studies be made of further school expansion, including construction of another new elementary school and a new Ardmore Junior High School, and the use of the present building by the Senior High School.

He pointed out that the new junior high school should come first because within a few years it will have to absorb the pupils now taxing the capacities of the elementary school buildings.

ing to the State Bureau of Labor and Industry, the proper department for making such a report.

The building has been under the operation of George Batten for the past five years. In May of this year, the lease for operation expired, and the building is now operated by Alagia under the name of Alagia, Inc.

Containing 55 room units, the building is principally occupied by elderly people.

The Fire Underwriters investigation is the second of its kind made in Narberth recently. In March, 1947, following a serious fire in another Narberth apartment house, the Underwriters Association and Chief Nulty made a survey of all apartment houses in the Borough.

At that time Chief Nulty stated that as Fire Chief he has no authority in such matters other than "seeing that the cellars are kept clear."

It was pointed out Monday night that condemnation of a building because of fire hazards must be made by State officials. In previous years these officials have passed conditions in the Windsor Essex.

Autocar Workers to Vote on Strike

That is still our position, as it must be. According to John Arroyo, president of Local 131, the union's proposals for wage increases started with a request for a 30-cent-an-hour boost plus an additional increase for maintenance and skilled trade workers. When this was refused, the local asked a 12-cent hourly increase and finally for a 6-cent hourly increase with a provision for additional two and three cent boosts as production rose.

The Autocar management turned down the first part of the third suggestion but agreed to consider the second part. However, union officials took the position that the proposal must be considered as a whole.

In a statement to members of the local, Adolph Gelpke, vice president in charge of production and chairman of the negotiating committee, declared:

"It would be useless and deceptive to promise wage increases, which, if business continues at its present level, could not be paid."

He said that out of all of the automobile industry only the heavy duty truck market has thus far sharply declined. In other cases, he stated, a continued high demand has permitted price increases to balance wage increases.

"That course is not open to us," he explained. "We do not intend to present a hopeless picture, nor even a gloomy one, but merely to demonstrate the fact that a present increase is out of the question."

Gelpke stated that no matter how today's strike vote turned out, the company will be willing to continue negotiations for automatic wage increases, but only based on production increases.

Arroyo expressed confidence that management will recognize the needs of employees and change its position. He said that otherwise there would be a detrimental effect not only on the workers, but on the community as a whole.

If the local votes to strike, it will not mean an immediate walk-out. Results of the vote must be reported to the president and international executive board of the UAW, and approval of a strike requested. In the event this is given, officials of the local may then call their members at any time.

RAYON FOR PLAY

Mrs. Fenton Calkin extinguished flames in the kitchen of her house trailer home at 1300 Haverford Rd., Wynnewood Park, Friday afternoon, as she fired from the Ardmore, Oakmont and Brookline companies arrived.

She had called the firemen, according to Haverford Township police, after a fire extinguisher failed to work, but later succeeded in quenching the flames with a bucket of water.

The fire started at 5 P. M. when a strong breeze blew the stove burner flames against the curtains. Just outside the trailer at the time of the fire were the Calkins two sons, Bruce, 2, and Wayne, 2 months. Calkin is an engineer for a Philadelphia machinery concern.

The family originally from Wilmington, Del., has been living in the trailer on the Haverford Rd. property of Mrs. Daniel White for the past two and a half years.

BAUMER—CLAFFIN

Mrs. William M. Claffin, of Wynnewood, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Martha Claffin, and Herman D. Baumer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Baumer, of Philadelphia.

Miss Claffin, a graduate of Baldwin School, is a student at Wellesley College.

Mr. Baumer, a graduate of Haverford School, is now attending Princeton University.

Know Your State

The Pattern of a New Age

Whether or not atomic energy ever becomes effective as a chief source of power and other developments now proceeding from the experimental to the practicable stages are certain to have a large effect on the American future.

Many of these new ideas are now being worked out in Pennsylvania, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out. This is quite natural since Pennsylvania throughout all American history has been the chief source of energy which moves the vast machinery of our Nation's industries and commerce.

The dependence of our National Defense on petroleum products is obvious to us all. Yet it is well known that America is using its oil resources at a faster rate than any nation in the world. To deal with the possibility of future shortages, the first large scale conversion plant which will transform bituminous coal into fuel oil and gasoline is now being constructed a few miles out of the city of Pittsburgh. This plant is likely to be the first of a large number of similar installations in the future since there is a known supply of bituminous coal adequate to provide all the fuel needs of our Nation, in both liquid and solid form, for thousands of years.

The problem of developing a highly efficient burning device for the use of Pennsylvania's unique product, anthracite, has long concerned the hard coal industry. The introduction of the "anthracite" which occupies less space than the average oil burner and works with much greater efficiency than any other domestic coal-burning device so far invented, is also a Pennsylvania development which promises to be of great importance.

Even more revolutionary than the transformation of bituminous coal into gasoline and fuel oil is the demonstration now being conducted in a home in Reading, Pennsylvania, that the houses of the future can be kept warm in the winter and cool in the summer by utilizing the heat of the Earth as a chief source of energy.

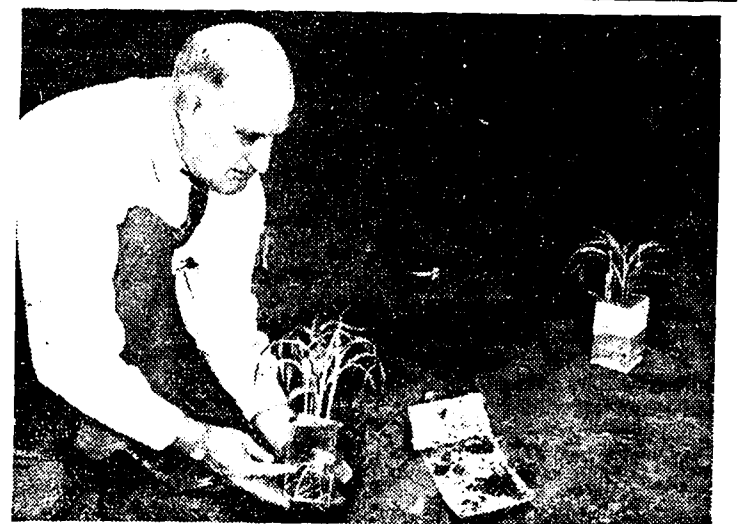

Every household electric refrigerator generates heat which it radiates into the air of the room in which it operates. If one imagines this heat radiation greatly increased and the cold coils inside the refrigerator raised 15 or 20 degrees in temperature by the heat stored in the Earth, one can see how the device could be used to heat one's kitchen instead of cool one's food.

This is what is done during the wintertime by this new device known as a "heat pump." The whole house becomes the radiator for the system, while the water in a dug well prevents the refrigerant liquid from going below approximately 50 degrees. Because of this Earth heat, the system provides much more energy than is supplied to it by the electric motors which circulate both the refrigerant and the well water.

In the summer the circulation system can be reversed and the well water used to absorb rather than to provide heat for the interior of the house which then becomes a true refrigerator.

Whether this new method of domestic heating and air conditioning through the use of electric power and the stored heat of the Earth will come into general use during the next decade is a matter of less importance than the fact that it does provide for the future a means for the conservation of fuel energy over an indefinite period.

TRANSPLANT MEXICAN CORN SUCCESSFULLY

Big-rooted, cold and drought resistant corn from the high plateau country of Mexico was successfully transplanted in Illinois this spring by corn breeders of the DeKalb hybrid seed corn company. The Mexican seed was started in a greenhouse earlier in the spring before Illinois soils were warm enough for corn, and then transplanted outdoors in paper ice-cream cartons.

SPARE TIME GARDENER

By DOUGLAS EARL
HENRY A. DREER, INC.

The Spare Time Gardener, has been eating lettuce (Oakleaf) from a 20-foot row right outside the kitchen door for more than five weeks, and it is ever good. We pick it at 6:30 P. M. and eat it at 7 P. M. What could be fresher. A row of Larkspur planted in front of the lettuce almost hides it and Zinnias have been transplanted right in the row. So when we get through with food for the "belly" we will have food for the "soul".

We have also had our fill of green onions, and string beans, while Beets and Kohl-Rabi will be ready in a week. Lima Beans are in blossom; Tomatoes already have a sizeable green fruit. All this in a bit of ground 15 x 40 feet that under water most of June. Blight started on the Tomatoes but a couple of dustings with Tomato Dust fixed that. One dusting with Rotomone knocked out the Bean Beetle that have appeared so far.

As an experiment, to test the viability of Dormant Rose bushes that had been kept in storage after the usual planting time, six bushes were planted on the 10th of May. They bloomed in exactly six weeks. Dusting with DuPont Rose Dust has kept the foliage in prime condition; no sign of Black Spot. As part of the experiment, no fertilizer was applied when planting but they will now get an application of Boving (Dried Cow Manure).

Japanese Beetles have made their appearance; so far hand-picking has kept them in check, but the beetle traps and arsenate of lead are ready should they get worse. Japonex, The Milky Spore Disease, will kill the grubs in the soil, apply in late July at about the time the beetles lay their eggs.

If your evergreens have made too vigorous a growth, due to the rainy spring, and extend out over paths and driveways, now is the time to do some judicious pruning and shearing. Watch for red spider and spray with Black Leaf 40, at the first sign of their appearance.

The Spare Time Gardener is running out of ideas. May be its heat, maybe its just an innate laziness and may be its because he would like to drop him a card and say "tell us more about this" and that—the other thing." Write The Spare Time Gardener, P. O. Box 350, Ardmore, Pa.

Summer Theatre Presents Play By Haverford College Graduate

"How Bright the Moon," a fast moving, sophisticated comedy by James P. Adams, forms the fare this week at the Bryn Mawr College Summer Theater at Goodhart Hall on the Bryn Mawr campus. Addams, who graduated recently from Haverford College, demonstrates in his farce that he has learned much about playwriting in the course of his studies for a Master's Degree in Theater at Columbia University.

Johnny Metcalf, who aroused enthusiasm in an earlier comedy role on the summer theater stage, scores heavily in the leading role of a millionaire playboy. To a far greater extent than his fellow players, Metcalf is able to make even the trifling line seem like fresh and sparkling humor. Sandy Stoddard is both amusing and decorative as the artist, Cecile, whom Hugh threw over to marry her friend, Leslie.

Marjory Low, the Bryn Mawr College junior who wrote the morbid fantasy presented by the company last week, appears as Leslie and does not adjust herself too successfully to the demands of a comedy part. By way of contrast, Jervis McMechan does a very smooth job as the art dealer's agent who marries Cecile. McMechan, who has starred previously in a serious role, shows impressive versatility as a comedian. The play is hampered somewhat by John Brubaker and Dave Olson, who as Adler and Allison should bring in much of the comedy, and who deliver their lines too much as if by rote.

The humor of "How Bright the Moon" is subtle, but apparently was understood by and amusing to the first night audience, which included famed New York critic John Mason Brown. The final performance of the comedy will be Friday and Saturday evenings.—C. A. W.

C.A.P. Coastal Patrol Group Plans Reunion

Base 17 of the C. A. P. Coastal Patrol will hold its second annual reunion this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Hotel Henry Perkins, Riverhead, Long Island, where its personnel were billeted during their wartime anti-submarine operations.

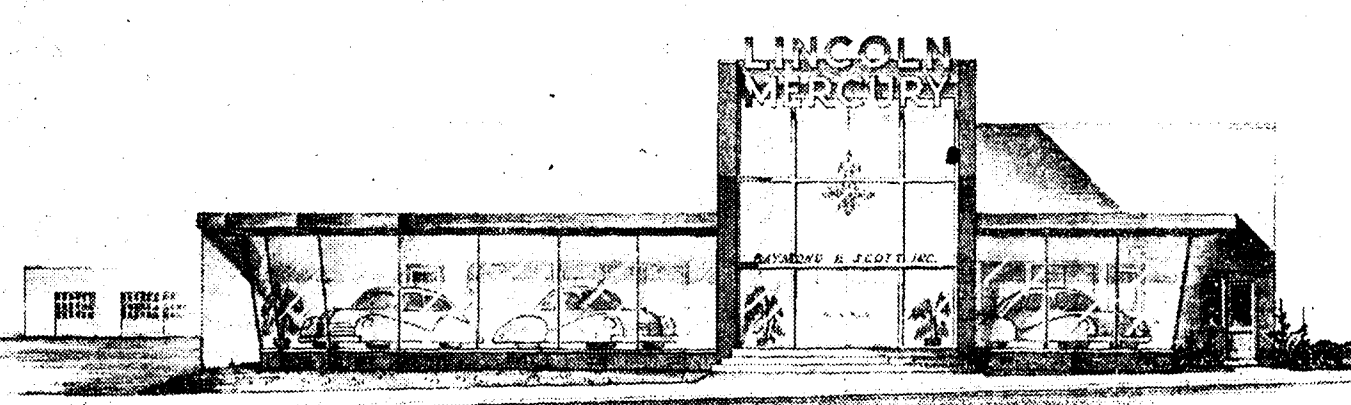

Included in the group are 31 pilots who were recently awarded the Air Force Air Medal by Maj. Gen. Lucas V. Beau, USAF, National Commander. One of them is Col. Ralph Earle, of Haverford, who founded the base in August, 1942, and served as its commanding officer until December, 1943. Other local men among the honored pilots are Wallace D. Newcomb, of Bryn Mawr, and Donald S. Leas, Jr., of Haverford.

Congratulations To... RAYMOND P. SCOTT, Inc.

The new Raymond P. Scott, Inc., Lincoln-Mercury building which was formally opened Tuesday, is one of the most modern automobile showroom and service station units to be erected in this area.

Covering approximately one acre with a 200-foot frontage on Lancaster Ave., Ardmore, the building, (shown above), is built in an "L" shape to provide efficient arrangement and a maximum of parking off the highway. The main shop, with permanently marked service stalls, will accommodate 19 cars, and is equipped with underground pipes to which the exhaust of each car will be attached so that all gases will be piped outside the shop.

The parts and accessories sections are located, with the sales counter and cashier's booth, near the main shop entrance. The parts department adjoins this section and includes an additional counter for service to customers in the show room at the front. Over 2,000 square feet of floor space on a balcony above affords a large area for a large stock of parts.

The shop extension is at the rear, and extends across the entire property, housing a number of separate departments which are marked above the entrance door. Eleven additional cars can receive separate services in these departments. The parking area will accommodate 44 cars and will also provide space for the display of used cars.

Designed with the conviction that the all-important function of the showroom is to display the new automobile, a streamlined modern style has been employed. All walls except the rear, are entirely of plate glass from floor to ceiling to give complete view of the display. The ceiling continues beyond the glass to form a cantilevered hood, surmounted with ribbed stainless steel band. To reduce the amount of light reflection, the plate glass walls are tilted to slope outward at the top. All lighting fixtures are recessed in the ceilings, and the background walls have all been kept in a light neutral blue-gray.

The main central feature of the building has a base of curved steps leading to a platform in front of a pair of clear plate glass double doors, flanked on both sides and above with plate glass walls set in stainless steel mullions. Framing this central motive are two imposing masonry pylons in Indiana Limestone, with the front lines conforming to the lines of the sloping plate glass windows of the show room. The side walls reach to a height of 22 feet and a ceiling which features a recessed circle, beyond the rim of which are tubes of cold cathode lighting. From the center of this high circular ceiling hangs a large chandelier of French crystals. A stainless steel moulding covers a projection at the bottom of the side walls of the central area and concealed behind this, are rows of tubular lighting which light the side walls. In all ceilings of the show room, the lights and a focusing arrangement enable most of the source of light to be concealed.

The building, being basically functional, has the owner's office, closing office, salesman's office and clerical office as well as parts department adjoining the showroom area, but their entrances provide the maximum in a one color background for the cars display. This thought is followed in the three flush surfaced doors in the center of the back wall which will throw away the glare of new cars from the main shop. An exterior door from the showroom has been provided for convenience in reaching the parking area. A terrace floor in harmonizing color completes the scheme.

A series of flood and spot lights will illuminate the walls of the shop extension, and parking area, and a battery of flood lights mounted on the lower roof of the showroom will illuminate the entire limestone side wall of the pylon. On this wall will be mounted in stainless steel, the name, Raymond P. Scott, Inc., in block letters, and in large script, the words, Lincoln-Mercury.

NARBERTH TOSSERS GAIN TIE WITH MANOA FOR 2D IN MAIN LINE LOOP RACE

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

Narberth fought back into a tie for second place in the Main Line League last weekend by downing Ardmore and Manoa. The double win, coupled with Media's double open date, forced the Main Liners into the lead with Narberth and Manoa only a half game away.

Media swung back into the gray this week, meeting Manoa on the field on Saturday and journeying to Glenolden to play the Stars on Sunday. Eddie Lofland and Dom Caniglia will probably hurl for the leaders.

Narberth, still hoping to slip into the lead—a position it held all season—plays Wayne, defending champ and current fourth place team—at Wayne on Saturday and returns home to play fifth-place Ardmore on Sunday. Buddy Walker's Lions gave the power-laden Dayvians a terrific struggle before edging a 6-5 decision last Saturday.

Elsewhere on the Main Line, Manoa, following its Media setback, will play Berwyn on the Pirates diamond Sunday. Berwyn has lost 10 in a row, its last victory being a 16-15 affair against Ardmore on May 23d. Ardmore avenged this setback, however, last week when it faced Berwyn, 10-1, behind Bill Pfaff's fine pitching.

Clifton Heights, which blazed like a Roman candle for a couple of weeks and then fizzled out again, plays Ardmore on the latter's diamond on Saturday. Glenolden, which is tied with Ardmore for fifth place, meets Berwyn at Berwyn on Saturday.

Wayne and Glenolden headed Clifton a double dose last weekend. The Italian-Americans, who also meet the Heighsters at Clifton on Sunday, downed Shillington's crew, 10-4, while Glenolden triumphed, 9-4. Wayne's win strengthened its hold on fourth place and showed that the L.A.C.'s were ready for the stretch drive.

Narberth, in whipping Manoa, 8-5, jumped off to an early lead, hung on behind Gene Weinert, and went on to win. Tommy Grace started for the Manoaans, but Millard Robinson relieved after Narberth scored five runs in the first two innings.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Forty-four boys left the Main Line YMCA Wednesday morning for Camp Dwight near Downingtown, the YMCA boys' camp of Philadelphia and vicinity. They were accompanied by James C. Hengst, boys' worker of the Main Line Y and the following who will be assistant counselors for the two-week period: David Ward, William Long, Al Kuntz, Paul Mariano, Eugene Hughes, Michael O'Neil, and Ed Horn.

Ardmore boys included Joseph Dolan, Leo Dolan, Thomas Donati, William Donati, Thomas Donnelly, William Fagan, Joseph Ferry, Robert Ferry, William Ferry, Michael Heyman, James McLaughlin, Jr., Wallace O'Donnell, James O'Donnell, Armand Rossi, Charles Sexton, Jr., Paul Terstege, Alexander Betus.

Bryn Mawr boys are: David Bernard, Russell Canning, Roy Coburn, Francis Fanning, John Horton, John Johnson, Jack Kelly, Joseph Kelly, John McGahan, Jack Sadtler, Thomas Sadler and William Walker.

Penn Wynne boys are: Leo Barns, Frank Fitzgerald, Robert Johnson, John Trotter, Also Thomas Pakes of Cynwyd, Wesley Merz of Narberth, Fred Osterholtz of Drexel Hill, Robert Fechtenburg, and Richard Manns, Jr., of Haverford, Kenneth Heller and Frank Henry of Villanova, David Carson and Robert Berkmore of West Manayunk, Ralph Lentz of Media and Thomas Murray of Chester.

Well supervised activities include swimming, archery, tennis, hand-crafts, riflery, all sports and team games, horseback riding, hikes and overnight trips. Camp Dwight is directed by Roland Ritchie of Glenolden where he is Director of Physical Education and basketball coach at the Weldon Junior High School. He directed Dwight last summer and has had considerable experience in the field of camping, was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and has taken work at Columbia University.

Dwight is one of five camps owned and operated by the Philadelphia YMCA, all of which are under the direction of Carl Alford. The other camps are Hilltop for young adults. Lookout for girls.

Castle for younger boys and girls, all of which are located near Downingtown. Another camp for young adults is located at Avalon, N. J.

The Phalanx fraternity of the Main Line Y helped send 15 boys to Camp Dwight, according to the organization's president, E. H. Jennings, Jr. This was made possible through the generous cooperation of many friends of the club and the YMCA and the Suburban Theatre. Games for use in the cabins and some athletic equipment for the camp was also purchased for the boys to use while at camp.

The club held a final business meeting until September on Tuesday evening at the Main Line YMCA. A social event will be held in August.

The SeHapKno Tri-Hi-Y club will play the girls of Haverford Community Center in softball on Friday evening at the Ardmore Avenue playground.

The executive committee of the Twenty Two Club held a meeting Tuesday evening at the Main Line Y with president Peggi Cronin in charge. The club held a business meeting last Wednesday evening. Eleanor MacAllister, activities chairman, has announced a special event which will be held on Saturday, July 31, when the club will go to Montgomery County Park.

The Board of Managers of the Main Line Y will visit Camp Dwight on next Wednesday evening, while the boys from the Main Line are coming there. The group will go in time for the evening meal at Camp Hilltop, the young adult camp.

In the junior baseball league of the Main Line Y the Red Triangle team defeated the Bryn Mawr boys on the playground at South Ardmore Monday afternoon with a score of five to three. Clarence Wynne and Donald Clotti are captains of the respective teams. John Austin, of Bryn Mawr, was umpire and stated that the Red Triangle team stole more bases than in any game he had seen played this year.

2 Villanova Aces On Olympic Team

Two Villanova athletes—George Guida, sprint star, and distance runner Browning Ross—qualified for the United States Olympic track team during the final trials at Evanston, Ill., Saturday.

Guida placed third in the 400-meter dash and also was named to the U. S. 1,600 meter relay team, along with Mal Whitfield, Ohio State; Dave Bolen, Colorado, and Art Hurd, Texas A. and M. Meanwhile, the unpredictable Ross placed second place in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, trailing Bob McMullen, of Los Angeles A. C. He finished only five yards behind the victor.

New Mark Set At Swim Club

Record Broken By Philadelphia Boy

A new record for the junior boys 25-yard freestyle event was made by Jon Rogers, of Philadelphia, at the Colonial Village Swimming Club this week.

Rogers, in the weekly meet held Monday afternoon at the club, set the new record when he bettered his own time from 15.7 to 15.5 seconds for the event. High scorers for the day were Carolyn Altshouse, of Colonial Village and Wally Graham of Narberth who both scored 10 points.

Leaders in the race for the presidents cup, awarded at the end of the season to the contestant who has received the most points in competition are Wally Graham, Rogers, Sandra Malek, and Miss Altshouse.

Results of Monday's meet are: Junior boys diving: Graham, Jack Eidenburg, of Narberth, and Rogers. Junior girls diving: Miss Altshouse, Lee Thomas, of Colonial Village, and Vickie Fayant, of Stratford.

Junior boys 25-yard freestyle: Rogers, Charles Fant, of Wayne; and Dick Graham. Junior girls: 25-yard freestyle: Miss Altshouse, Miss Thomas, and Miss Fayant.

Junior boys 25-yard breaststroke: Wally Graham Rogers, and Dick Graham.

RELATED JUNE BRIDES!
TAKE NOTICE, for here's a spanking new home located just off Old Gulph Road (also known as Montgomery Ave. or Route No. 23), between Gulph Mills and King of Prussia—only about 3 miles to Wayne or Norristown stations.

IT's a tricky layout, too—with first floor containing reception hall, way plus garage furnace and laundry rooms, while second floor has spacious living room, kitchen-dinette combination, two bedrooms and bath.

THE lot of about 1/3 acre contains an abundance of mature shrubbery and trees and there is ample room for a truck patch.

IF Dad's footing the bill, he'll be tickled pink with the price of only $8750, which we believe represents a fair investment figure.

Capital Netmen Win Two Titles At Cynwyd Club

Two Washington D. C. entrants made off with most of the honors as the Pennsylvania State juniors' and boys' tennis championship tournaments concluded at Cynwyd Club.

The Capital competitors included Edwin Francis Wesley, Jr., recent Georgetown Prep graduate, and Teddy Rogers, Landon School sophomore. The contestants played six and a half hours continuously and reeled off 122 games, with Wesley playing a total of 96.

Wesley upset the defending champion and first-seeded Jim Foster of Haverford College, 6-2, 6-2, 11-3, 6-4 to win the junior crown. Sandwiched in between was the State boys' final in which Rogers registered a 3-6, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Ed Dailey, Hill School, to take the title for the second time.

Earlier, Rogers paired with Roger Campbell, of Episcopal Academy, to capture the State boys' doubles. The matches were umpired by Percy Osborne of Cynwyd, who officiated in all three finals.

CHOOSING A CAREER

NURSING AS A CAREER

Nursing is one of the most important professional careers for women. It offers outstanding advantages and opportunities.

The nurse, like the woman journalist, may practice her profession wherever she chooses—in a city, a country village, on a steamship, in an airplane, in America or abroad. She may use her profession in a dozen different fields—public health work, child care, psychiatric nursing, physiotherapy, X-ray, anesthetics, hydrotherapy, home or hospital nursing. She may take her own designated "time out" to marry and raise a family, to study, to rest and receive her energies and interest in her work. She may work part-time or full-time. Her's the free-lance job that is the ideal of most wage-earners, but which few of them can achieve in other professions.

Even more promising than these personal advantages is the fact that nursing, being one of the younger professions, is now on the upswing and promises to remain so for generations to come. The more skilled the doctors and surgeons, the more new techniques and treatments discovered for disease, physical handicaps, and mental ailments, the more they will need skilled nurses in attendance. The greater the present world-wide interest in improving the general health of the people, the greater will be the demand for nurses in industrial and public health work.

Nursing is given high recognition today. Tomorrow, it will be an even more important career as we face the task of world-wide rehabilitation—a dignified and inspiring profession.

Narberth Netman Beaten in Finals

Al Baderak, Narberth southpaw, was beaten in the final round of the seventh annual Philadelphia Public Parks tennis championship for the Herb J. Jansen Memorial Trophy over the weekend bowing by 6-4, 6-3, 6-1 at the Woodford Courts to Jack Bowles.

Bowles thus became eligible to compete in the national public parks championship at Los Angeles later this summer. He triumphed after one hour, 45 minutes of play because of his greater stamina and well-rounded attack.

Manoa B. C., Marple-Newtown, And Eagles Take League Lead

Eagles A. A., by virtue of a 5-3 triumph over Garrett Hill, took the American Baseball League as the Haverford Township adult recreation program resumed operations this week.

The Eagles, still undefeated with a record of 3 and 0, will play host to Ardmore Park on Monday and meet Haverford at field No. 2 on Wednesday. Meanwhile, Garrett Hill will oppose Shamrocks and Keystone A. A., tied with the Hillers, Haverford and Keystone for second place.

In the National Baseball League Marple-Newtown won its third and fourth straight at the expense of Manoa B. C., 10-9 and Merwood, 2-0. Wayne, meanwhile, remained undefeated (three in a row) by bowling over Manoa, 9-1.

Manoa B. C. continued to lead the International Baseball League by defeating its neighborhood rival, Manoa Post, 4-0. Manoa Post and Wildcats were tied for second with two victories each.

SPORTS SCENE

By JACK FORD

Mrs. John A. Lafore, Jr., of Haverford, captured two titles in the opening matches of the Pennsylvania State skeet tournament over the Ebensburg, Pa., traps of the American Legion Skeet Club.

A member of the Philadelphia Country Club, Mrs. Lafore won the women's 410 and 20-gauge contests with scores of 84 and 190, respectively. The shoot drew 60 top-notch skeet experts from all parts of the State.

Three former Villanova College athletes are competing in the Canadian-American Baseball League this season. They include catcher Frank O'Neil, property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who is stationed at Three Rivers; Charlie O'Malley, another mackman, a Schenectady ace who belongs to the Phillies; and Dan Casey, Quebec outfielder.

Casey, one of the most talented members of Coach Phil Weinert's clubs expects to take over a high school football coaching job in Albany, N. Y., his home town, come next fall.

Tennis tournaments are being conducted by Lower Merion Township Playground officials at Ardmore Avenue, Bala, Belmont, Bryn Mawr, Gladwyne, General Wayne and Wynnewood Road. Anyone who desires to compete may do so by signing up with the supervisor at his nearest playground.

One of the best independent baseball records in this sector currently is being compiled by Allie Cornog and his Haverford A. A. team. At last had been beaten only by Detroit Clowns, a semi-professional club which ranks with the best in the country.

Haverford plays its home games at the Haverford High field on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Composed almost exclusively of former Haverford High athletes, the Cornogmen deserve your support.

Drop out some warm evening—and when you can't—in watch 'em oppose Gross Post (next Monday), Green - McCracken (next Wednesday) or Upper Darby A. A. (July 26).

Bala Takes Lead In Lower Merion Playground Race

Bala, by beating Gladwyne, 5-0, took the lead in the boys' league of the Lower Merion Township Playgrounds last week, with a record of seven victories in 10 tries.

Wynnewood Road was a game behind in the same circuit with a 6 and 3 record, while Belmont was third with 5 and 4.

In the boys' 13 to 16 division, Penn Wynne remained unbeaten with a 5 and 0 log against 4 and 2 for Gladwyne, while Ardmore Avenue led the girls' 13 to 16 group by compiling a 3 and 1 record for 750.
